

{loadposition vega}

For many years, Vega has been recognized as a leading company in lifts accessories thanks its search in innovation and design. At the base of Vega solutions there is one of the largest and most advanced technical engineering department in Europe with its 6 dedicated divisions: division for electronic control boards, division for style (display, fixtures and push buttons), division for safety light curtains, division for doors operator boards, division for emergency communication systems and division for energy recovery systems. Paralaxa is distributor of the Italian company Vega srl .

VEGA srl from Italy which produces :

- microprocessor control boards
- displays
- push buttons
- doors operator boards,
- emergency communication systems

Paralaxa produces control panels for all types of elevators based on Vega electronic control boards.

More information about the company and the production program can be found on their website:

www.vegalift.it